CALL TO THE PUBLIC

Jennifer Borup thanked the Council for their service, sacrifice, and concern. She and her family have lived in Kaysville for almost 12 years. They planned to live here one year but fell in love with Kaysville. They have seen changes to the Master Plan, including relocation of the frontage road placing it within throwing distance to their backyard. They have accepted a large business development bordering that frontage road. They have applied for and complied with conditional use permits for their animals and paid to move a fence previously constructed by a housing development that did not comply with City code. She comes to the Council tonight with no complaint or anger. She is here to say thank you. She believes there are many people content with their lives in Kaysville. She explained that multiple generations have chosen to live here for over 100 years. She was raised in the Bay area and has lived in Colorado, Utah County, and Fort Lauderdale, Florida. She believes there is no better place than Kaysville. She believes that the Council and the citizens who live here make it great. She applauds the Council's goodness
