CALL TO THE PUBLIC

John Loveless stated that about 2/3 of the electricity he needs for his home and his electric cars come from solar panels. The rest of the power he needs is purchased from the grid. When he began doing this, he did it to save money. Now he is starting to question other issues like burning of fossil fuels. He also has health concerns regarding pollution. He would love to see an option where residents of Kaysville could buy renewable power.

Lorene Kamalu stated that she heard John Loveless speak to the Kaysville Rotary. He is an expert in energy saving resources and would be a great resource to help educate the City.
